Rankings by Journal

This search provides a list of Universities ranked based on journals specified by the authors of the papers. Only those papers that are published by authors from the business school of the University are counted in the rankings.

The UTD Top 100 Business School Research Rankings™ methodology has been amended effective 15th June 2017. The modification affects business schools whose authors have listed affiliations with either the National Bureau of Economic Research and/or the Centre for Economic Policy & Research along with their university affiliations. The new methodology assigns full credit to the author's university affiliation when computing the rankings (in the prior rankings each affiliation received 1/n where n was the number of affiliations the author listed). This change will be reflected only in the rankings going forward and the prior published rankings have not been amended.
