

Reddi Kotha

Lee Kong Chian Professor
Professor of Strategy & Entrepreneurship
Innovation & Entrepreneurship Research Peak Coordinator
Singapore Management University
Associate Editor
Strategic Management Journal

50 Stamford Road
Singapore, 178899
reddikotha@smu.edu.sg
Phone SG: +65 6828 0401

Prof. Kotha is Professor of Strategy and Entrepreneurship at Singapore Management University's Lee Kong Chian School of Business, where he also serves as Innovation & Entrepreneurship Research Peak Coordinator. He holds a Ph.D. in Entrepreneurship from London Business School, an MBA from Babson College, and a Bachelor of Commerce from Nizam College, India. He has held roles including Academic Director of the MSc in Innovation and Coordinator of the undergraduate Entrepreneurship major, and has taught in executive education programs for global firms such as Sumitomo Mitsui, Deloitte, Prysmian, and others.

His research lies at the intersection of innovation, entrepreneurship, and organizational design, with publications in leading journals including Academy of Management Journal, Strategic Management Journal, Research Policy, Journal of Business Venturing, and Harvard Business Review. He has won several awards including the Glueck Distinguished Paper Award (2010) and Karen Legge Award from Journal of Management Studies (2008), and has secured over $900,000 in competitive research funding. He serves as an Associate Editor at Strategic Management Journal and served as Associate Editor at Academy of Management Journal (2022–2025) and serves on editorial boards of SMJ and other journals.

Publications: <https://scholar.google.com.sg/citations?user=VTfINjwAAAAJ&hl=en>